

Free online Training Courses

Play by the Rules has developed free, interactive online training courses that you can undertake in your own time. They provide information for coaches, administrators, officials, players, parents and spectators on their rights and responsibilities under discrimination and child protection laws.

You can do courses in child protection, harassment and discrimination, complaint handling and a specific course for Member Protection Information Officers.

The courses have been developed in consultation with sports experts who work in these areas. They are short, user-friendly and feature the latest interactive technology, including case studies, practical scenarios and a quiz.

Users who successfully finish these courses can print a certificate of completion.

By taking these courses you will upgrade your knowledge and skills, which will help to create safer, fairer and more inclusive environments for all people involved in sport.

To register go to:

<http://www.playbytherules.net.au/online-courses>

Play by the Rules is a unique partnership between the Australian Sports Commission, the Australian Human Rights Commission, all state and territory departments of sport and recreation, equal opportunity commissions, the Australian and New Zealand Sports Law Association, the Office of the Children's Guardian and the Anti-Discrimination Board of NSW

